Political/Governance

National Elections:

- Voter registration continues in all provinces except Al Anbar.
- Iraqi political parties continue the process of developing party coalitions and candidate lists at both the national and governorate level for submission to the Independent Electoral Commission of Iraq (IECI).
- The European Union offered a new package of EURO 31.5M to support the January elections. The funds will go to support the IECI, Information Technology, voter outreach, media development and boosting the participation of women.
- Grand Ayatollah Sistani announces that he will be the first to vote in the January elections and continues to play a positive role in support of the elections.
- News reports and editorials in support of the elections are now dominating the headlines in the Iraqi press.
- The State Department has set aside $120,000 to support pro-democracy and free expression publishing by Iraqis. These funds will be used to promote the rebirth of independent publishing in Iraq. There are Iraqi publishing houses in Baghdad, London, Cologne, and Germany interested in undertaking this work.

Election Planning Continues:

- The IIG announced that $90 million will be allocated to allow Iraqis living overseas to vote in the January elections. A field assessment has been commissioned to assess the capacity to carry out the program worldwide.
- Portugal announced the extension of its military presence in Iraq through the elections to provide additional security.
- Advertisements explaining the voter registration process hit the airwaves of major Arab satellite channels this week.

United Nations:

- Fijian forces departed for Baghdad this week to provide security for UN personnel.
- Georgia announced its decision to deploy a force of about 850 troops to join the multinational force protecting UN personnel.
- PM Allawi and SYG Kofi Annan exchanged letters this week on the importance of holding elections in January.
- SYG Kofi Annan met this week with Iraqi Ambassador to the United Nations Samir Sumaidy and discussed the ongoing elections preparations.

Governance – Developments

Capacity Building:

- USAID continues to implement Local Governance Programs (LGPs) in 18 governorates, increasing Iraqis' understanding of democratic principles and the political process.
  - The democratization process in Iraq reached a milestone this past week, as the number of Iraqis participating in Democracy Dialogue Activities (DDAs) exceeded 750,000. Over a 32-week period, LGP staff have conducted events for an average of 23,365 participants a week.
  - Staff in southern Iraq hosted the South Central Region Decentralization Conference, focusing on administrative law for 25 elected public officials.
  - LGP is providing training in project management and technical assistance on project preparation for councils and governmental departments in southern central Iraq through the LGP Investment Assistance Program (IAP).
- The State Department is promoting capacity building and democracy through US-based programs for Iraqis.
  - “Elections” International Visitor Program (23 October – 13 November): The six person group of Iraqi journalists and NGO leaders are observing the US electoral process up close, before, during and immediately after the November elections.

Iraqi Airports Refurbished and Repaired:

- The Baghdad International Airport (BIAP) has been refurbished and repaired as part of a USAID contract with Bechtel and SkyLink to rebuild Iraqi airports in Baghdad, Basrah and Mosul.
- Commercial airlines, including Royal Jordanian and Iraqi Air, are now using the international airport facilities rehabilitated by USAID; the airport is processing an average of 45 non-military arrivals and departures daily.

Middle East Financial Technology Exhibition and Conference:

- The Middle East Financial Technology Exhibition and Conference (MEFTEC 2004), hosted by the Governor of the Bahrain Monetary Agency (BMA), will be held 22-24 November at the Bahrain International Exhibition Center.
- More than 30 high level speakers from 12 countries will present at the event. The objective of MEFTEC is to challenge and enhance participant understanding of effectively leveraging technology within a financial institution.
- Running parallel to the conference is an international trade exhibition, which will display the latest specialized financial services technology.

Water Treatment Projects:

- Expansion is approximately 75% complete on a major water treatment plant serving Baghdad and surrounding areas. This project will produce approximately 250 million gallons of potable drinking water per day for Baghdad residents.
- Work on the Sweet Water Canal is 70% complete and is on schedule for completion by mid-December 2004.
  - To date, 34 of 44 pumps, and six of eleven electrical generators have been refurbished. The project also includes refurbishment to the canal's pump stations, emergency canal repairs, and heavy equipment support for the local Irrigation Department.
  - The Sweet Water Canal has been the main source of raw water for about two million residents in the Basrah region since 1996, delivering approximately 28,000 cubic meters of water per hour.

USAID Waste Water Treatment Projects:

- The rehabilitation of one of Baghdad's Rustimiyah wastewater treatment plants is on track for completion in early 2005. This is one of three major wastewater treatment plants serving nearly 80% of city residents.
- Upon 100% rehabilitation of Rustimiyah and two other plants, Baghdad will be able to treat 210 million gallons per day, benefiting 3.5 million people.

Public Distribution System (PDS) and MOT-Awarded Contracts:

- Embassy officials have received 94 contracts under MOT II, including pulses, tea, infant formula, vegetable oil/ghee, infant cereals and adult milk, which have been compiled into a new draft pipeline report that will be used to track those shipments.
- The Ministry of Trade has reported that all L/Cs have now been issued for MOT II.
- For the October/November Ramadan period, the Ministry of Trade will have sufficient supplies to meet the planned distribution of five key commodities.
- Embassy officials continue to meet with the Ministry of Trade to further the PDS process for MOT III contracts, which will fulfill January and February 2005 requirements. Commodities under MOT III have already been tendered. The MOT proposes to award contracts for those tenders by the end of November.

Current Hospital Construction and Rehabilitation Projects:

- Crews are preparing to break ground for a new pediatric teaching hospital in Basrah. The hospital will provide 50 patient beds, facilities for medical personnel training, facilities for outpatient and inpatient surgeries, outpatient clinics, and major diagnostic modalities.
- The Salah Din Rehabilitation Hospital project cost more than $250,000 and included repairing a failing air conditioning system and rehabilitating the heating and domestic hot water system. Additional repairs at the hospital included repairing the main electrical distribution point and building a physical therapy clinic.
  - The Rehabilitation Hospital is the only hospital of its kind in Iraq. The physical therapy performed here is crucial to healing the many Iraqis who have suffered injuries resulting from the insurgency.

Other Current Projects:

- The Ministry of Health has submitted a grant application to the Japanese government for the donation of 700 ambulances (estimated grant value of USD $55 million).
- The first installment of the PCO training contract was released this week. It covers the Partnership in Health Care initiative (PIHC).

School Repairs Completed in Tikrit:

- On 25 October, Company B, 1st Battalion 18th Infantry held grand openings for two completed Commander's Emergency Relief Program (CERP) projects in Northern Tikrit. Both CERP projects were proposed by local leaders.
- One recent CERP project, the Al Aola School, was completely refurbished with wiring and plumbing repairs, paint, window replacement, tile repairs and new furniture. The project cost more than $25,000 and serves 350 students in Northern Tikrit.

Distribution of Education Kits:

- USAID in partnership with UNICEF supported the procurement of education kits for 139,358 Iraqi children enrolled in grades 1-4 for the 2004-2005 school year. The kits contain various learning materials such as exercise books, pencils, erasers, sharpeners, rulers, and slates.
  - With support from USAID, UNICEF also updated its findings from a comprehensive national education survey conducted last year. The survey is being used by the Ministry of Education to design educational policies that address the needs of Iraqi learners.

Multiple USG agencies have worked together to initiate several projects to restore and improve the communications throughout the country, including the following projects:

- Construction of the Advanced First Responder Network, a communications network that will connect police services, fire services, emergency response services, and the military.
- Reestablishment of the Iraqi Communications and Media Commission at a new facility thereby increasing the effectiveness of the commission to regulate and spur the development of the communications industry.
- Rehabilitation of the Iraqi Telephone and Postal Company's switching facilities to restore telephony traffic capacity nationwide.
- Rehabilitation of the existing postal facilities throughout the country in order to restore basic postal service.

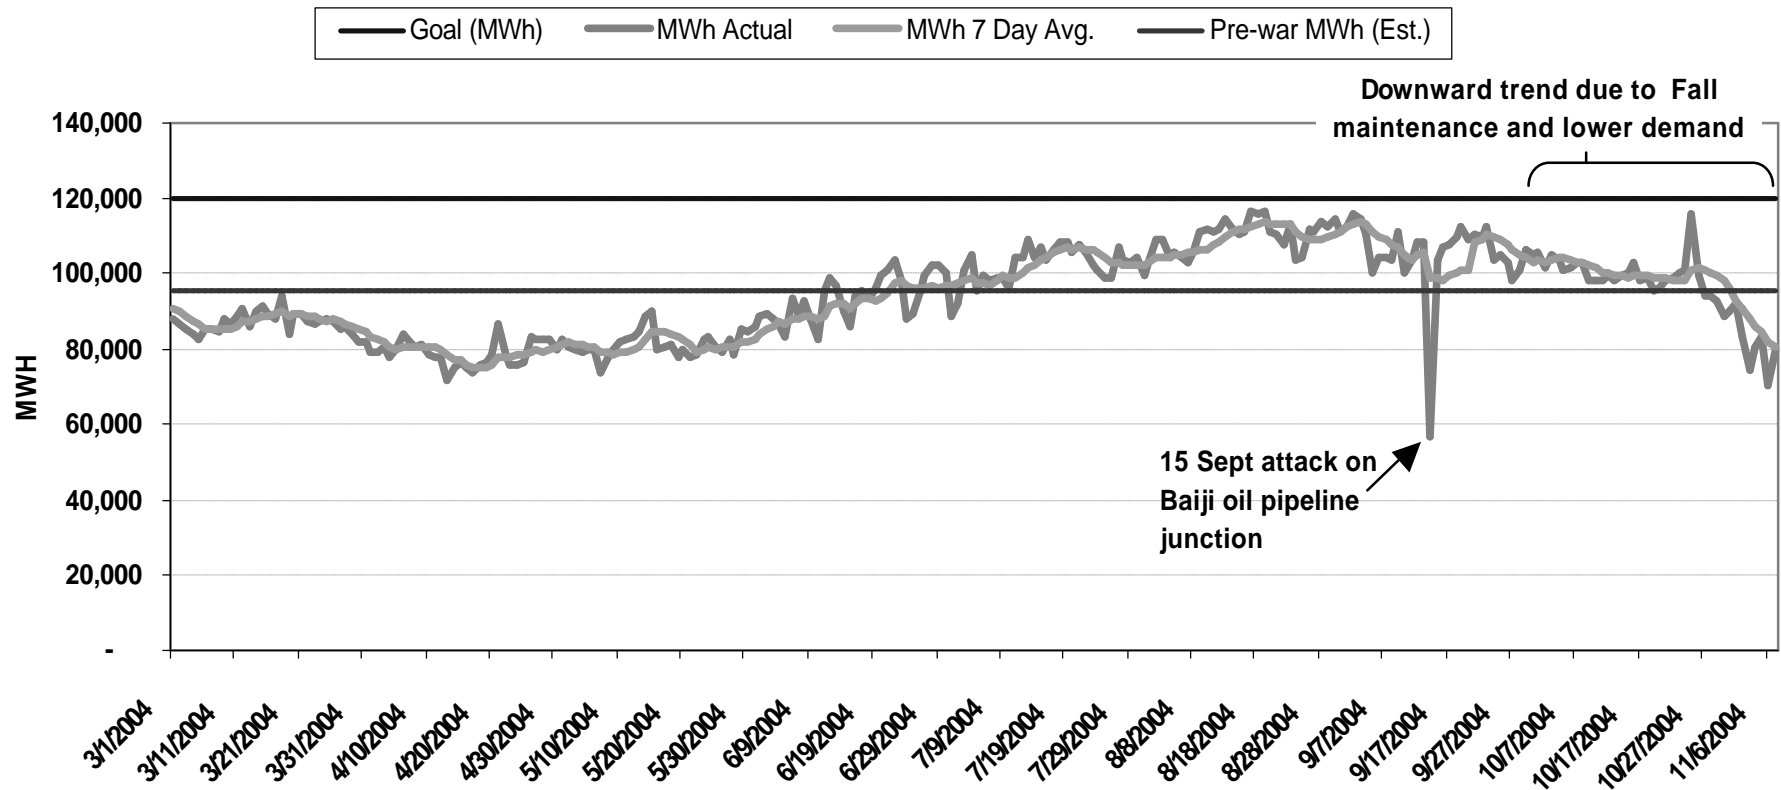

The Advanced First Responder Network will play a key role in providing for national security by increasing the Iraqi government's ability to rapidly respond to both domestic and international security threats. Additionally, it will enable the government to respond to natural disasters and provide emergency medical, police, and fire services to the general public.
